Received a call from Chuck Snodgrass, House Appropriations Committee staff, who asked that we be sure the Director is prepared tomorrow when he continues his briefing of the Defense Subcommittee, to talk in some detail about Agency security systems in general. He said the Director should also talk about the different kinds of classifications, the three or four basic systems, and why we have compartmented systems, their sensitivities and some examples. He also wants a brief discussion of the different laws that apply to security. He also asked that we bring some copies of the secrecy oaths Agency employees sign, and explain them. He said the Director could use charts or give a presentation off the top of his head. --just so it is clear enough for everyone to understand. He also asked that I bring the transcript from Thursday's briefing.

I talked with the Director, Jack Blake, and Charles Kane about Snodgrass' request. It was agreed Mr. Kane would pull a paper together giving some of the basics of the security system.

Called Guy McConnell, Senate Appropriations Committee staff, and alerted him to the fact that we might have to cancel the Director's appearance before the Intelligence Operations Subcommittee on Wednesday due to a White House meeting. McConnell called later and said Jim Calloway said to just cancel the meeting and they will reschedule at another time.
